Dearest Colleague,

On behalf of the organizing committee, it is our great pleasure to invite you to the 27th IUSTI Conference, which will be held between 27-29 September 2012, in Antalya Turkey.

Antalya based at the coast of the East Mediterranean, is one of the most enchanting cities of Turkey. The organizing committee wishes to welcome you to the conference, with the concept of "Ex Oriente Lux". Great and wonderful cultures have reared magnificent Empires and civilizations all over the East throughout the history with many influences on today's world. Many branches of social, medical and applied sciences have originated from the East and have illuminated the world. Once more, the light of science for sexually transmitted infections will rise from the mystic atmosphere of the East Mediterranean in 2012.

The conference is highly apt to attract many health professionals from all over the world to Antalya with the slogan "STI and HIV: Time for protection".

Please note down the dates for this exciting event, to share the latest information and advances in the treatments of sexually transmitted infections, and to enjoy the beauties of this magical city. We will be grateful by your company, as the light of knowledge rises from this eastern paradise.

Best regards,

Demir SERTER
